

Student Government Association members (2009-2010)

Class of 2010 (Mrs. Nicole Keller, Advisor)

Krysten Legion, president, decided to serve in SGA because it would allow her to have a “positive voice,” in school affairs. She's a natural for the president's position because she “gets along with a lot of people” in her class, she said. She would like to focus on fundraising to help defray senior year expenses, community service opportunities and organizing events.

Lauren Lincoln, vice president, holds a 3.8 grade point average during her senior year and is anxiously awaiting word of college acceptance from universities such as North Carolina A&T and Spelman College. “I'm really involved in my community,” she says, including working a part-time job 12 hours each week. Through her work in SGA, she hopes that the Class of 2010 will “go down in history” at WMST for its accomplishments.

Kennesha Sanders, treasurer, wants to be an investment banker when she grows up, and she decided to serve as SGA class treasurer as a preparation for that career. Her favorite WMST classes are Math, U.S. Government and Sculpture.

Class of 2011 (Mr. Willie Ingram, Advisor)

Jordan Bell, president, says that serving in SGA comes naturally, since he's always wanted to make changes since entering WMST in the ninth grade. His favorite classes are Debate, College Skills, AP Physics and AP U.S. History, and his family was featured in a December U.S. News & World Report story about selecting a charter school.

Heather Wimbush, vice president, enjoys studying History and Geometry. Her goal is to help prepare the Class of 2011 to have their senior year be “the best it can be.” She would like to see WMST students be presented with more community service opportunities and would like to see the school bolster its afterschool activities and fundraising.

Kelechukwu Idika, treasurer, decided to serve on SGA to help improve WMST. His favorite classes are Math, Science and History.

Diamond Flemmings, secretary, decided to serve in that capacity because she could have more of an impact on the school than as an SGA class president or vice president. Her favorite class is Math and her goal is to “be the best secretary I can be.”

Class of 2012 (Ms. Vivianne Forrester, Advisor)

Calvin Allen-Crawford, president, likes taking English and History classes at WMST. He calls Ms. Brennan, “the best teacher.” He wants to “leave a legacy,” at WMST so that “people remember my name.” He doesn't feel the need to “fit in,” and wants to influence his classmates positively.

Breona Dawkins, vice president, wants to promote the good behavior program at WMST through her involvement in SGA. Her favorite subjects are Science and History, and she likes to debate with others. She'd like for SGA to help students obtain “more rights than what we have right now.”

Salih Groves, treasurer, his favorite courses at WMST are History and Air Force Junior ROTC. He joined SGA on a whim after Technology Teacher Vivianne Forrester, his SGA class advisor, suggested he join.

Wendy Portillo, secretary, is carrying a 3.85 GPA at WMST, having transferred from McKinley Tech. Her favorite WMST class is AP English. "I want to understand my class better and hear them out," she said. "Most of my classmates complain but are to unwilling to do anything," to implement change.

Class of 2013 (Mr. Shannon Wilson, Advisor)

Janay Johnson, president, convinced 54 classmates to sign her SGA petition. Her favorite classes are Music and World History. She wants the SGA to help the school administration implement a better lunch program, getting better substitute teachers and eventually move to a bigger campus.

Eunique Wimbush, vice president, wants the SGA to help make WMST lunches more appetizing. Eunique's favorite classes at WMST are Reading Strategies and World History.

Shawanda Davis, secretary, says that her favorite classes at WMST are Math and History. She participates in the Double Dutch team at the school. "I felt I could make a difference taking notes," she said of her role as secretary.

Donnell Mann, treasurer.
